6th Annual North Tulsa Community Baby Shower

Sept 17 • 11a–2p
Booker T. Washington High School

A free baby shower honoring pregnant women and moms and dads of young infants

How can you help?
About the event

Each year, community agencies come together in North Tulsa to host the Community Baby Shower. This event provides education to pregnant women, new mothers and new fathers. Participants will learn about their health, the health of their babies and learn how to create a safe home environment for the whole family. Families are also connected to local parenting support agencies and health providers. Educators provide safe sleep classes in an effort to reduce infant mortality.

More than that, this event is a celebration for moms and dads that won’t always get a baby shower of their own. Attendees are honored guests. Lunch will be provided, cupcakes are served and all guests leave with a prize, diapers, wipes, clothing or a giveaway to prepare their home for their new baby. We hope you consider partnering with us for our 6th Annual North Tulsa Community Baby Shower.

At the last event...

500+ people in attendance

9,000+ diapers given away

55 moms attended a safe sleep education class

33 dads attended a fatherhood education class

86% of attendees reported they would be connecting with a new community service

Past Event Summary

When the event was last held in 2019, 31 agencies welcomed over 170 pregnant or recently delivered moms to the baby shower. Attendees were connected with local agencies through education and demonstrations from vendors and encouraged to celebrate their baby with lunch and cupcakes. For the first time, the 5th Annual North Tulsa Community Baby Shower was proud to offer classroom education on safe sleep and fatherhood skills. Participants in the fatherhood class were all gifted a dad diaper bag, and the safe sleep class participants were entered into drawings for 12 pack ‘n play giveaways.

Thank you from Tulsa families:

“As a first-time mom of twins, this event has provided a great deal of help and knowledge to myself and my children’s’ father. Thank you so much for everything!”

“I want to thank you for opening my eyes to new programs as well as new ways to take care of my new little one.”

“Thank you very much for hosting this special event! I personally did not have a private baby shower due to the cost my family could not come up with. Every item and resource is GREATLY appreciated!”

“Thank you so much for putting this event together. This was truly an experience I will not forget.”

“To the sponsors: I had no idea this event would be this big and put together. It was wonderful. Thank you for the fatherhood component as well.”
